MURDERS A MAN FOR STEALING WIFE'S LOVEVICTORY IS CONCEDED
BY FOEPlurality of 7000 is
Estimate of Bell
Supporters

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The Bulletin tonight says. With the returns received today from the rural and more isolated districts, the election of Gillett as Governor is assured by a safe majority. The followers of Bell have practically given up hope and generally concede Gillett's election by a plurality of 7000, although this figure is based on 12,000, the headquarters of the Republican State Committee. Gillett has captured the more populous counties with the exception of Sacramento which Bell swept by two to one. Napa, Bell's home and San Joaquin and the smaller mountain counties.

Gillett also pulled with him a solid Congressional delegation and a Legislature of the same complexion. This fact makes the defeat of the best-controlled men in this city more conspicuous.

Carroll Cook has given up hope of gaining the presidency of the Appellate Court of this district into which Ruff had attempted to place him. Judge Cook has won against him by a clean majority.

The new Justices of the Supreme Court—Sloss, Henshaw and Loran—are Republicans. Judge Murasky of the local Superior bench ran far ahead of his associates. Craig and Fletcher still fell 6000 votes behind Loran who stood third.

The results in Santa Clara County show a victory for the Hayes faction with the exception of Shafter which was won by 10 majority over the Hayes man. Frank Ross, Arthur Free gained the District Attorneyship, allied by the Hayes faction. Santa Clara County gave majority to both Gillett and Cook.

Alameda County went to the Republicans, giving Gillett a large majority with Langdon second and 1000 votes ahead of Bell. The entire Republican ticket in the county was elected with the exception of C. E. Thomson for Assessor who was defeated by Henry P. Dillon Independent.

Clara Shor, an avowed candidate for the United States Senate, was defeated for the State Senate and A. M. D. U. an aspirant for Speaker of the Assembly, went down to defeat in Fresno County to the surprise of politicians.

Truman Beale, the millionaire clubman, was in Kern County, having made no effort to win George T. Riley of Humboldt has been elected to the State Senate.

C. M. Hammond of Upper Lake, a brother-in-law of President Roosevelt, created a stir by winning against J. B. Sanford, who has served his Democratic constituents in the Senate for three terms and was regarded as invincible.

Los Angeles county is in the Republican list. The two surprises of the county were the election of Ben Ward to the Assessorship and the defeat of Senator Benjamin W. Hahn Ward was opposed by the machine and the corporations because during his incumbency he raised the assessment on the corporations.

S. B. Hall, Republican and M. T. Dooling Democrat have been elected to the District Court of Appeals in the First District.

CRUEL TALES
ARE TOLD BY
PRETTY WIFEMrs. Hodgkins Seeks Divorce
From Her Policeman
Husband.

He said my wedding dress ought to have been my shroud, said pretty Mrs. Harriet H. Hodgkins on the witness stand when she testified in the divorce suit she brought against her husband Police Officer Wilfred I. Hodgkins. After he had destroyed three of my hats and a silk skirt he started to tear up my wedding dress, but I saved it.

Unusual interest was taken in the case when it was called by Judge John Ellsworth in the Superior Court this morning. Upon motion of counsel all witnesses were excluded from the court room and Deputy District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes representing the plaintiff wanted the newspaper men included in the exclusion, but the court would not grant his request.

I am now in fruitvale with my mother, said Mrs. Hodgkins. My child is a boy 8 months old. I have lived here in this county all my life. What has been the general treatment of the defendant toward me? He has been very cruel since May 1905. While living at 655 Twenty-sixth street he beat me often and choked me. During May, 1905 when I was in a delicate condition he blackened my eye.

He struck me so often that I don't remember what the causes were. He hit me with his fist. My eye was red and swollen and was seen by his sister and mother. He told me that he did not know whether my boy was his child or not. This was said to me two or three times.

Two months after we were married he came into my bedroom and struck me with a revolver on the arm causing it to become black and blue. His brother St. Clair, the ex-police chief and present detective and his wife Annie were present in the kitchen and his sister saw the mark on my arm. He would come in my room at midnight and pull the covers from me and call me vile and abusive names. He had very much of a temper in fact it is unmanageable. During May, 1905 he came home and tried to choke me and throwing me on the bed, tried to smother me with a pillow. His sister came in and said to him to let me alone. I had to go to my aunt's house. He came for me and said there would be no more quarreling.

In November 1905 I left him again and went to my mother's at 1267 Webster street. Again he came for me and promised to be good. On Christmas day last year he choked me and I went to my mother's. There we kissed and made up after I had been away from home five weeks. At that time Mrs. Goodman at 2443 Ward street said things will be different now. On February 25 last the baby was born and less than a month later I was obliged to leave him because he called me names. Three weeks after the baby came he knocked me down. His actions have caused me great mental suffering. I have no means of support except the $30 alimony that is allowed me monthly by the court. At this point in Mrs. Hodgkins' testimony Judge Ellsworth ordered a recess until 1:30 o'clock and stated that if the case was not concluded today it could not go on tomorrow.

Mrs. Hodgkins who is a remarkably pretty woman with an excellent figure was stunningly gowned in a suede tail-made frock. She wore a black picture hat with red roses and black ostrich plumes and was veiled.

During her testimony, she looked

CHILDREN
REMAIN IN
FRANCEBoni Would Prevent Their Coming to America.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The hearing of the Castellane divorce case was resumed in the Palace of Justice this morning. Maitre Bonnet of counsel for Count Boni de Castellane consumed less than an hour in concluding his argument for the Count. He continued his criticism of Edmund Kelly the American lawyer of the Countess and persisted in his demand for an examination of the witnesses in order, he said, to permit of the case being probed to the bottom.

Counsel added that in the event of a divorce being granted the Count will ask for permission to see his children two days each week and a month in summer and that the Countess be enjoined from taking the children to America without his consent. So far as money was concerned nothing would be much altered by a divorce. It would only mean final financial ruin for the Count.

It was impossible for him to meet his outstanding obligations amounting to $24,000 a year. The remainder of his ancestral inheritance would have to be sold. If his wife desired to present him in such a light before the world he had nothing more to say. Nevertheless it seemed only just that he should be reimbursed the $240,000 which he obtained by the sale of his share of the ancestral forest of Buony and which was contributed to the household expenses.

AFFECTION OF COUNT.
Counsel concluded with asserting that he was convinced that the Countess if free to obey the dictates of her conscience would yet consent to a reconciliation and solemnly assured the court of the Count's respect, esteem and undying affection for his wife.

Maitre Cruppi for the Countess in reply charged the Count's lawyer with seeking to divert attention from the issue at stake by making an unprecendented and baseless attack on Mr. Kelly who counsel declared enjoyed a standing in the United States and France which made his defense superfluous. He having been counsel for the American embassy in Paris the last twenty years. Maitre Cruppi read a letter from Mr. Kelly denying the charges made against him, and said that unless the persons named were he would never know the people with whom he had been bribed. He declared the documents to be forged by which counsel charged the Count in July attempted to convince his wife that Mr. Kelly was concerned in a plot to accomplish his political ruin.

TWO SHARP PASSAGES.
Two sharp passages between Maitre Cruppi and Bonnet took place one of them compelling the intervention of Judge Dite. Finally Maitre Bonnet asked the court to postpone the case for a fortnight in the hope of a final reconciliation but the judge refused to do so and adjourned the hearing for a week. At the conclusion of the pleadings, the case was adjourned for a week.

The court after hearing the conclusions of the public prosecutor next introduced the decision of the court for a divorce for an examination of witnesses. The Countess' case in which Count Boni de Castellane, de Castellane and George J. Gould as trustee are made joint defendants. This suit, which is brought by six creditors involves $5,400,000.

Maitre Millerand, of counsel for the creditors did not finish his plea, and the case was adjourned for a fortnight.

WHAT COUNTESS SPENT.
M. Millerand of counsel for the creditors contended that the Countess, under the regime of separation of property, was responsible for her husband for the expenses of the household. He spoke in an extremely sarcastic manner saying that his clients were particularly glad to learn that the Countess did not intend to fly to America, Maitre Millerand ridiculed the attempts of opposing counsel to

CHARLES KUCHS KILLS

Tragedy

(Special to THE TRIBUNE)

RENO, Nov. 8.—True to his threat that he would kill the despoiler of his home unless he left Reno, taking with him the woman that he had alienated from her lawful husband, Charles Kuchs a resident of Oakland, Cal. and former manager of the Empire Theater which was located on Twelfth street between Washington and Broadway Oakland recently a bartender in the Northern saloon of Reno Monday night shot and instantly killed Edward (Silvers) Farrel and wounded four other men Clifford Benson E. H. Licht, G. L. White and Herbert McCullough. The shooting began in the Palace gambling house and was completed on Center street, just outside the big club house where the sidewalk for a few moments was littered with the dead and injured six men being picked up with blood streaming from their wounds.

PUT UNDER ARREST.
Kuchs was arrested by Officer Lester Cadle and taken to the police station, where he remained in a dazed condition until removed to the Sierra hospital a few moments afterward. Farrel was removed to the People's hospital but left the body before the gloping team arrived.

WOMAN AT HOSPITAL.
The woman whose infidelity caused the terrible tragedy is at the St. George hospital repudiated by her husband and suffering from the nervous shock that she has sustained.

MIDNIGHT SUPPERS.
The sanguinary affair is the direct result of Farrel invading Kuchs' home and detaching his wife a young woman easily fascinated by the gay company wine and midnight suppers that go with a fast life.

For over a week she had been staying at the William Tell House with Farrel while the latter was walking the streets threatened with death by the injured husband.

Repeatedly he was advised by friends to leave the city as Kuchs had sworn to kill him.

WOMAN FRIGHTENED.
The woman was frightened and wanted Farrel to take her away from the city, but she, too, wavered as she insisted at times that she would not leave until she had recovered her

MURDERS HIS WIFE'S LOVER

clothing and jewelry which the wronged husband was retaining. Hearing of the matter the police attempted to pacify Kuchs until they could get Farrel and the woman, out of the city. The lecherous faro dealer promised to go, but he stayed a day too long and the night saw him stretched cold in death at the feet of the man whose home he had wrecked.

STORY OF THE CASE.

Kuchs and his wife came here last spring from Oakland, where he had been managing the Empire theater, a vaudeville house, owned by his father, a prominent theatrical manager of that city.

The young man, four years before, against the wishes of his family, married a dashing young woman, the divorced wife of E. J. Corey, chief of police of Emeryville, California. Together they lived at Oakland, apparently happy, but the yearnings of the wife for a gay time surged strong within her and after their arrival in Reno she became infatuated with Farrel, who was dealing at the various games in the Palace. Farrel had rooms at the home of William Robinson at 133 West street, where the Kuchs were living, and there he daily met Mrs. Kuchs.

FARREL A LADIES' MAN.

"I can win any woman," Farrel had repeatedly boasted. "I can take any man's wife from him if I want to." And to substantiate his claim he made love to the pretty wife of his friend.

A week ago the revelation came home to the husband with brutal force. Farrel had taken Mrs. Kuchs to the theater and when the husband returned home after completing his night's work he found his rooms empty and learned that his wife had gone to the apartments of Farrel. From that time until the hour of the tragedy Kuchs lived in a frenzy. He told his friends that he would kill both Farrel and the woman, and Saturday night, when in a high pitch of excitement, he interviewed Chief Leeper and told him that unless Farrel took the woman and left the city never to return he would end their lives.

NOTIFIED CHIEF LEOPER.

"I saw that he was determined to precipitate a tragedy," said the chief, "and did all I could to pacify him. I told him that I would see that Farrel left the city if such a thing could be accomplished, and notified Farrel to come to my office at 10 o'clock Saturday night. He did not come at the appointed hour but I understand that he did come later in the night. Again I notified him to visit my office."

FARREL AGREES TO LEAVE.

"At 10 o'clock on Monday Farrel called upon me. I laid the case before him, told him in the pleasantest terms of the wrong that he had done, and advised him that unless he left immediately he was apt to be killed. He agreed to leave the city and said that he had made up his mind to leave."

"At 2 o'clock in the afternoon he called at my office again and asked that I go with him to see Mrs. Kuchs. I found her in his apartment, evidently still under the influence of liquor. She said she intended to leave with Farrel and after waiting them both of what was impending I left them."

BULLETS FILL THE AIR.

The streets were crowded at 10 o'clock when Kuchs walked into the Palace upon and in gambling house, looking for Farrel. The latter was standing behind the crap table at the Center street entrance, his back to the wall.

"Do you know what I am going to do?" shouted Kuchs. The answer came from both men as two revolvers flashed into the air, and Kuchs, firing first, sent four bullets entirely through Farrel's body from his Colt's automatic, piercing the breast, side and abdomen. Farrel staggered against the wall but recovered in a second and replied with a series of shots that broke Kuchs's right arm above the elbow, shot away a finger of his right hand and sent a bullet through his hat, producing a slight abrasion on top of his head.

MORE SHOTS FIRED.

Accounts of the sensational affair differ but all are saying that the two men rushed to each other and Kuchs, with his uninjured arm grasped Farrel by the lapel of the coat. More shots were fired at close range and then Kuchs escaped through the Center street door where they emptied their guns as they stood upon the sidewalk. With life extinct Farrel dropped to the pavement blood streaming from four wounds, either of which would have caused death.

BYSTANDERS HIT.

Five of Kuchs's bullets penetrated the wall of the gambling house and two of them struck persons in the vicinity.

Clifford Benson, a nephew of Governor John S. Packer, received a slight wound that drew blood from his lips as a bullet spun past him.

Herbert McCullough, town marshal of Spencer, Cal., received a bullet in the calf of his leg.

E. H. Light was slightly wounded in the right leg by a stray shot.

G. L. White was struck in the groin by a bullet which was deflected by his pocket knife.

KUCHS MAKE STATEMENT.

"I told Farrel two days ago that the city was not large enough to hold us both," said Kuchs today. "I told him that he was a dirty scoundrel, and that I would kill both him and the woman he had prostituted unless they left Reno never to return. He seemed to take his accomplishment as something to boast of, and when he convinced me that he intended to remain I started out to kill him."

"When I faced him in the Palace I had my gun ready, but I think he fired first. Anyway, that doesn't matter. I intended to kill him, and I am not sorry. He ruined my home. I know too well the sense of justice that prevails in Nevada to believe that I will ever be punished. I only did what others would have done under similar circumstances."

WIFE PROSTRATED.

Mrs. Kuchs is prostrated at the St. George hospital. She has not stood since the tragedy, crying and screaming continually. All visitors are denied admission to her room upon

HEADACHES AND

"I have lived with Siemsen, chummed with him, robbed with him, killed with him--and now I intend to die with him." So spoke Louis Dabner yesterday, the self-confessed thief and murderer. Dabner had just finished telling Dr. Leland, who had been brought to the O'Farrell street station for the purpose of identifying the latter as one of his assailants, how he and Siemsen had planned and carried out the hold-up of Dr. Leland about three months ago, on the corner of Vallejo and Laguna streets. He was discussing himself and his crimes.

"I am glad I made my confession. I was able to sleep soundly last night for the first time since the Japanese bank robbery. Before yesterday I never went to bed at night without talking over the details of the day's doings with Siemsen and I would always wake up during the night and ask Siemsen about the chances of being caught, and discuss our crimes with him. I always slept with a gun under my pillow, just as Jesse James did, and carried it about until we were caught."

MISS CRAWLEY AT YE LIBERTY

Popular Actress Will Give Performance in the Afternoon.

To accommodate the schools Miss Crawley has arranged not to commence the matinee of "As You Like It" at Ye Liberty on Friday, the 9th inst., until 2:45. This will enable most of the school children to attend. Miss Crawley has engaged Sam Hume of the State University to play "William," and though the part is small it is very good and Mr. Hume should make a success of it.

In his endeavor to do this, and if possible, to get some tips he witnessed uninvited the performance of "As You Like It" by the girl students at the University. Unfortunately they did not appreciate his zeal and requested him to leave, so his performance on Friday will be his own conception of the part unaided by any of his lady friends.

Potts averred that the court would have used similar language under the circumstances, but Judge Smith denied the allegation. Potts was fined $2.

Contractors Given One Day to Cart Away Rubbish in Gutters.

In accordance with the plan of Mayor Mott and the municipal authorities to make a more beautiful Oakland, with clean streets and sidewalks, Walter Fawcett, secretary of the Board of Works, this morning visited all the contractors who have buildings in course of construction and who have left debris and rubbish piled in the gutters and on the sidewalks and gave them one day's notice to remove all unnecessary obstructions and rubbish.

Since the earthquake considerable rebuilding of buildings and the construction of new edifices have been under way and the contractors, when they have completed their work, have delayed the removal of rubbish and left-over materials. Fawcett said that the streets and sidewalks have been in a poor condition and Mayor Mott has resolved to force the contractors to obey the provisions of the city ordinance.

Secretary Fawcett was accompanied by a policeman. He met with little opposition and the contractors agreed to have the rubbish removed by 12 o'clock tomorrow.

GASPIE MURDERERS CONVICTED BY THEIR OWN TONGUES EXPECT TO MEET SPEEDY DEATH ON THE GALLOWS

Police Strain Every Nerve to Apprehend Two Well-Known Ex-Convicts, Who Are Wanted as Accomplices of the Two Prisoners.

SIEMSEN BEGINS TO WRITE HISTORY OF HIS CRIMES; DABNER OVERCOME, FALLS IN CELL IN DEAD FAINT

Detectives Verify Confessions, Which May Result in Freedom for Man Serving Fifty Years for Holding Up and Robbing Dr. Leland.

To round up the accomplices of Siemsen and Dabner, Captain Duke and his detectives are now straining every effort. Both these men are known to the officials. One is Edward Scott, better known as "Scotty," and the other is Harry W. Kearney, also known as Harry Kingsley. Both are ex-convicts and considered dangerous crooks. By the name of Kingsley, Kearney was connected with the hold-up cases and as an accomplice of Siemsen and Dabner.

Scott has been hanging around the Oakland water front for some weeks. It was there that he met Siemsen and Dabner. They were then preparing to turn a small trick, and, believing that Scott would come in handy, they took him along with them. The police are firmly convinced that Scott was dropped right away and never figured in any of the important crimes.

Duke is sure that Scott is the man who helped the self-confessed murderers rob J. H. Dockweiler, the civil engineer, on Washington street last July. It is known that Dabner and Siemsen shook him after this trick was turned. Since then Scott has been seen around his old haunts. Duke thinks he will land the ex-convict behind prison walls within the next few days.

Seen after a day that was crowded with trying incidents for him, John Siemsen, self-confessed leader of the gaspie murderers, showed no trace of worry or fluster in his cell in the Bush-street station last night.

He was puffing at a big black cigar, and said that he had no complaint to make of the jail fare on which he had just dined.

"I've eaten better," he said, "but that wouldn't prove anything. I've treated me pretty decently since I've been here and I have no kick coming. I hope, though, that I won't be kept as busy for the remainder of my stay here. First, I had to stand up before Dr. Leland and tell him in detail how I and Dabner relieved him of his loose change. I could see that the doctor was inclined to question my story, because he had already identified a man that was railroaded for a fifty years sentence for the job, but I understand from the police that he has changed his mind since seeing Dabner. There ought to be no doubt about the innocence of Jim Sutton in this job, and I designedly said that I was going to see him in the cell at Folsom."

DRAWN PRISON PLANS.

"I know the Folsom graft myself, and as long as you have asked me about it I'll tell you about the plans I drew for the new penitentiary while I was in prison. They got to know that I was a draftsman while I was serving my time and came to me to work out the plans that some one had prepared for the new jug. I saw several mistakes in these plans and told them about it. They asked me to go ahead and make whatever alterations I saw fit in the plans, and I designedly said that I was going to touch them up in other ways that suited me. These plans made a hit with the prison authorities, but I understand that there was some graft or other on in State political circles and that the proposed penitentiary has not yet been built. Otherwise, I've been told, I would have been a prison architect."

WRITES POETRY.

"I had more than twenty callers today. Among them was a young woman who said she was a writer for the papers and asked me if I had ever written poetry. I presume that every man, some time or other, has turned out that kind of stuff, and to please her I consented to write a few of my stray verses. I've also agreed to write the story of my life for a fellow who promises to come through and see that I have good things to smoke and eat while I'm stuck in here. Please do not talk about these other places. I live in the present and do not believe in stirring up unnecessary worry. They're going to do whatever they are going to do with me, and I believe in seeing it through without setting up a howl. I've always lived that way."

"There is only one thing that I would like to be set right on. That is my relations with women. I have been set up as using women to help along my jobs and in violating all kinds of confidences. There is nothing to those stories. I have always revered women, and I could face a noose tomorrow knowing that I have never done a single one of them wrong."

LOVES HULDA VON HOFEN.

"Hulda von Hofen, the girl I married, was to me a person apart from all the women I had ever known. I thought she was beautiful, golden, glorious. The lies they are telling about my dealings with her are the only thing that now hurt me. Of all else I am indifferent."

The mention of the girl's name had an immediate effect on Siemsen, and he began to pace his cell as though he were fighting down an overwhelming emotion.

"I want to see her before the end of what aches me," he continued. "I had my own life with her. I was going to take her with me to New York and live on the level. Everything was ready for these plans of mine when I was told to do another job. I was all ready to get out when they began to lead me to go in for the holdup of the Steiner street jeweler, Behrend, and I told her that I was going to stand in. This fact is not generally known, am represented as the man who led Dabner to the bad, but I tell

WOMAN POSES IN RED MASK

Exhibition of Nude Model for Science's Sake—Man Hurries Away at Sight.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Dr. Walter M. Fitch, whose home, 645 West Monroe street, was raided by detectives of the Central Police Station, when he was exhibiting a nude model, was fined $100 when arraigned before Justice Prindle at the Harrison-street Police Station.

Queenie Dawson, seventeen years of age, who was the direct cause of the raid, was held to the Juvenile Court.

Several physicians and friends of Dr. Fitch who were in court when the fine was imposed, expressed indignation and said that the physician's practice in engaging Miss Dawson as a model at his institution was perfectly legitimate.

Dr. Fitch said that no one was admitted to the exhibitions where the Dawson girl posed except prospective patients and persons deeply interested in his work of physical culture. He stated that those found in his institution when it was raided by the police, were there as invited guests and that persons not acquainted with him or the Dawson girl were not allowed to enter while the demonstrations were in progress.

Thomas Canday, who caused the arrest of Fitch, testified that while he and his wife were in the physician's institution, the Dawson girl entered and sat down on the small stage. Canday said she wore nothing except a red mask, a bath robe and a pair of slippers and after she had been seated she removed all but the mask. Canday said he and his wife hurried into the street.

CLEVER SATIRE IS DELIGHTFUL

George Ade's "College Widow" Full of Fascinating Features.

"The College Widow," George Ade's comedy satire of college life, comes to the Macdonough theater commencing Tuesday, November 13, for six nights and a matinee, with every promise of a renewal of its extreme popularity of last year. Those who remember the former engagement recall that purchase well in advance was the only sure way of a seat, and the indications are that history in this case will repeat itself. There are undoubted qualities of perpetuity in the vogue of this clever play.

Mr. Ade, in "The College Widow," has given the American stage a comedy that lives because it deserves to live. It is clean as well as clever; it fascinates youth because it depicts youth in its fullest exuberance; it attracts age because it brings age back to its halcyon days; its simple story is a story of everyday life; the people who tell that story are the people who know. Above all that, Mr. Ade has built well—better than in any of the other of his plays. There is action from first to last curtain, and the dialogue scintillates. To see "The College Widow" is a delight. To tell one's friends to see it is a service.

Mr. Savage is sending a particularly promising cast. There is much interest in Miss Louise Rutter's appearance in the title role, for she has made a conspicuous hit in the part in the east, and those who read the magazines are familiar with her comedy and musical photographs of countenance. Robert Kelly plays the gallant half-back, and others in the cast who will help in making the engagement a pleasure are J. Beresford, Freda, Otto Turner, Alan Brooks, Frank Wunderlee, Wilson Deal, George S. Trimble, George J. Odell, John Fenton, Allen Hume, Ernest Anderson, Estelle Dale, Bessie Toner, Patty Allison, Frances Chase, Rosalind Allen, Elizabeth Van Sell and Helen Torrey.

Sets are now on sale.

Man Who Once Admitted Intent Is Arrested on the Isthmus.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A Panama special to the Herald says German Kehl, who in 1903 tried to gain admission to the White House with the declared view of killing Mr. Roosevelt, arrived in Panama yesterday from Chili and was put under arrest. Physicians declared him insane. He will be sent back to Chili. There are a number of secret service men now on the Isthmus to look after the safety of Mr. Roosevelt. For weeks the canal zone police and detectives have kept close tab on all arrivals at ports between Panama and Colon.

FRAUD CLAIM IN KANSAS

Republicans charged With Counting Out Nominee for Governor.

TOPEKA, Nov. 8.—David Overmeyer, Democrat, candidate for Attorney-General, today in an interview is quoted as saying that Republican leaders are making an effort to count out William A. Harris, the Democratic candidate for Governor. Mr. Overmeyer said: "I believe Mr. Harris received sufficient votes to elect him and that every possible effort is being made to count him out. 'Men have been counted out in Kansas before, notably Farmer Willets, and I have information which I believe to be reliable, that the same handy men who have manipulated ballots before have been at work again in various localities in the State. Men with carpet bags full of marked tickets left Topeka Tuesday night. 'I believe, however, that the official count will show Harris' election despite these efforts.'"

A DOCTOR

Recently diagnosed a case of pain in the epigastric region as cramp and learned the next day that his patient was rich enough to have appendicitis. Doctors are always making mistakes of some kind, but they are just as likely to blunder in the patient's favor as against him. Give even a doctor his due—there are worse fellows than doctors. I see that medical men are now prescribing ice cream for invalids, as a means of getting more nutrition into them. A kind of placebo, which I am told means about the same as a broad pill. But the right sort of ice cream is a very pleasant medicine and should be more generally used in the sick room. Take the Lehnhardt kind, for example.

A VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE

The re-election of Henry P. Dalton is a signal victory for the people. It is also a proof that popular intelligence and integrity are superior to organization, party majorities and the use of unlimited money in campaigns. Mr. Dalton had no organization, no swarm of spellbinders, spenders and workers behind him—only the people and a principle which appealed to the public sense of right.

His election is, therefore, more than a personal vindication. It is a triumph for public integrity, political decency and fair play. It is proof that when there is a vital issue at stake the people cannot be blinded by party prejudice, seduced by money nor misled by vilification and cunning artifice. Mr. Dalton has his faults, as all of us have, but in the contest just closed he represented a principle so just and vitally essential in a government by the people that he was victorious at the polls in the face of odds which appeared almost insuperable to men accustomed to take a superficial view of the motives controlling the electorate.

While the result of the contest for Assessor is a rebuke to the impelling motive of the fight against Dalton and the methods employed to accomplish his defeat, it is not an expression of public hostility to the Realty Syndicate people or the enterprises in which they are engaged. The people desire to treat the Realty Syndicate fairly. They have no wish to hamper its legitimate operations or place upon it any burdens that it should not justly bear. But they saw no reason why Mr. Dalton should be punished at its bidding and no reason why it should complain of his official conduct as Assessor. The voters saw still smaller reason why the Realty Syndicate should name the Assessor of Alameda county. They could only discern a sinister meaning in the attempt of the Syndicate to assess not only its own property for the purposes of public taxation, but the property of every other taxpayer. They rightly regarded the attempt of the gentlemen comprising the Realty Syndicate to take control of the political machinery as unjustifiable and fraught with grave peril to the public interests.

Public intelligence discriminated between the legitimate and illegitimate activities of the Realty Syndicate. They approve of the one and disapprove of the other. So long as the Syndicate confines itself to the various legitimate enterprises in which it is engaged it will have the favor of the public. When it enters politics to punish officials who have given the public satisfaction, but have incurred its enmity, and attempts to place in office its creatures, it will merit and receive popular rebuke, as it did last Tuesday when Henry P. Dalton won one of the most remarkable victories in the annals of California politics.

The citizens who voted for Mr. Dalton desire to treat the Syndicate people fairly. In our opinion Mr. Dalton desires to treat them fairly. He has treated them fairly in the past, and we are confident will do so in the future. As we said before, the vote was not an expression of hostility to the Realty Syndicate as such or its enterprises as such, but a veto on the attempt of the corporation to take possession of the Assessor's office. We trust the lesson will be profitably studied. It is an admonition, administered in a friendly spirit, to keep within legitimate bounds, be fair with the public and let the people manage their own political concerns.

Everybody Lend a Hand.

Now that the election is over we may profitably turn our attention to the everyday concerns of life, and give undivided consideration to projects for upbuilding the community. Chief among the projected enterprises promising great benefits to Oakland is the scheme to build a splendid modern hotel by a joint stock company. Every patriotic Oaklander should take an active interest in this project.

Aside from the demonstrable fact that such a hotel as has been planned will be a big paying proposition, and a most inviting one from an investment point of view, public spirit should prompt every business man and property owner to take stock in the enterprise. The hotel is to be representative of the community, and should not only represent its architectural taste and metropolitan aspiration, but should represent the business enterprise and co-operation of the citizens of Oakland. Therefore merchants and real estate owners generally should take a financial as well as a sentimental interest in the project. The greater number of shareholders, the surer the financial success.

The building of this hotel should not be left to a few men. All should contribute in some way toward it because it is going to add to property values all over the city. It will increase certain lines of local business. It will advertise Oakland all over the world.

Of course, the bankers of the Clearing House Association who have organized the company and planned the structure are abundantly able to finance the project, but they should neither be permitted nor expected to do so. Primarily they organized the company and pledged themselves to take large blocks of stock and agreed to take up the bond issue in obedience to an insistent demand for a great hotel of spacious modern type. They have led the way and done their part—more than their part, in fact—and now every citizen having a stake or a business in the city should do his, namely, subscribe for some of the stock. The way for men to support a public enterprise is to support it with their capital. The man who hangs back expecting others to do something without his aid that will benefit him and the city is selfish, unenterprising and lacking in true public spirit.

The Kangaroo Ballot Nuisance.

It is to be hoped that the Kangaroo ballot monstrosity will never again plague the voters of this State. It is a puzzle and a nuisance to electors, and opens the door wide to fraud in the count. Experience has also proved that it is impossible to prevent the ballots of bribed voters being marked so as to show that the goods have been delivered. In the long, wearisome count by election boards constituted of indifferent material both from an intellectual and moral standpoint, many errors and not a little incidental fraud creep in. There is more or less whiskey drinking while the count is in progress. And then there is the exasperating delay and the opportunity to hold back returns in order to overcome narrow margins by hocus-pocus. The contrast between the precincts in which ballot machines were used and those in which the voting was by the so-called Australian ballot discloses the immense superiority of the mechanical method of voting over the cumbersome and complicated ballot system in vogue. The next Legislature should enact a new ballot law for the benefit of counties not supplied with ballot machines, or for use when the use of ballot machines is inadvisable.

Langdon only carried one county over Bell—Alameda. Here the Union Labor strongholds all gave Langdon heavy pluralities, showing that Bell got very little of the labor vote in this county. The great bulk of the labor vote in San Francisco also went to Langdon, the remainder being divided between Bell and Gillett.

Cummins Gets the Knife in Iowa.

The small majority for Governor Cummins in Iowa is something of a surprise outside that State. He was either badly cut by the stand-pat element of the Republican party as a protest against his tariff theories, or was knifed by the friends and partisans of Senator Allison and Secretary Shaw in revenge for the savage personal attacks made on them by Cummins' supporters. It will be remembered that Cummins made his fight for renomination on tariff revision, being opposed by Congressman Perkins of Sioux City, who represented the stand-patters. Incidentally the Presidential aspirations of Secretary Shaw were involved. Cummins won out in the primaries, with the aid of Democrats, it is said, and named the ticket and a majority of the State Committee. But he allowed the defeated faction to frame the tariff plank of the platform, which is a non-committal sort of affair, in view of the agitation in Iowa with respect to the tariff. Cummins was accused of using tariff revision as a stalking horse for his ambition and then abandoning it to further his election after getting the nomination. In consequence the vast majority of tariff revisionists voted for the Democratic candidate along with 25,000 or 30,000 old line Republicans. The small majority given him is in the nature of a rebuke to Cummins and will be a back-set to him politically.

Supervisor Bridge.

William B. Bridge is to be congratulated on his election as Supervisor. He had a hard fight, being opposed by one of the most popular men in the county, and his victory is, under the circumstances, highly creditable. Mr. Bridge made a clean fight, and owes his election to the loyalty of his neighbors, who knew him. He will make a good Supervisor, and a worthy successor to J. R. Talcott.

WHEN I AM DEAD.

When I am dead, if men can say
"He helped the world upon its way,
With all his faults of word and deed
Mankind did have some little need
Of what he gave"—then in my grave
No greater honor shall I crave.

If they can say—if they but can—
"He did his best, he played the man,
His ways were straight; his soul was clean;
His failings not unkind nor mean.
He loved his fellow men, and tried
To help them"—I'll be satisfied.

But when I'm gone, if even one
Can weep because my life is done
And feel the world is something bare
Because I am no longer there;
Call me a knave, my life misspent—
No matter, I shall be content.

An unusual condition. One in your favor. It has always been our pride to carry the largest stock and the most exclusive varieties in San Francisco and Oakland. To accomplish this and keep pace with the tremendous business we are now doing, our Cincinnati, Chicago and New York factories have been going at four times their usual capacity.

Twenty-one carloads of pianos arrived this week. The insurance company refused to give us any more insurance as we are in a dangerous part of the city, among the machine and paint shops. We dare not carry them without insurance. We must dispose of them at once. To accomplish this in the shortest possible time, we cut the prices totally disregarding cost or value.

This is no so-called "Fake Sale." Come and get our prices and compare them with other dealers and convince yourself.

We only had fifteen days' notice to vacate from our 15th and Broadway store, to this place. We also have several second-hand instruments to offer. Below we quote you prices on a few.

One Oliver,	-	-	-	$220
One Reed & Sons	-	-	-	$280

GOOD FELLOWS THROUGH CAFE

"The Brook" Handsome New Buffet Is Thrown Open to the Public.

"The Brook" babbled merrily at 415 Tenth street last night, for it marked the opening of a new cafe, which will prove a decided addition to the many temples of Bacchus that are scattered along and contiguous to the white lights of Broadway. Politicians, business men and bon vivants thronged the liquid emporium from the moment that the doors were opened until Father Time ushered in the hour of 1. It was a jolly crowd, that had called to pay its respects to Fred A. Borchert and Ned Brooks, the proprietors. They had happily named the cafe, "The Brook," because a constant stream of wine and case goods flowed over the bar.

Relieved by the yellow glow of hundreds of electric bulbs, the mission oak finish of the place stood forth in refined quietude. Everything looked rich and comfortable. Over the bar forming a panel in the background was one of the masterpieces of the artist, A. D. M. Cooper. It represented a hunting scene and is named "Good Luck."

Looking down from a corner is the figure of "America," also Cooper's work. Over the doorway, leading to the booths, which are sumptuously upholstered in dark green leather, is one of the best of the artist's work. Each of the sixteen prongs of his antlers was tipped with a tiny electric lamp.

Ned Brooks, who is one of the best known mixologists in Oakland, was at the helm of the new cafe on a successful voyage. "The Brook" promises to become one of the most popular rendezvous in the city.

GRAP.

A reliable medicine and one that should always be kept in the home for immediate use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will prevent the attack if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears. There is no danger in giving it to children, for it contains no opium or other harmful drug. For sale by Osgood Brothers, Broadway, corner of Seventh and Washington, corner of Twelfth.

Every Lady Will Get a Piece

Washze is sold on merit and not of talk. Look for the sample. Sold by all grocers.

MERCY FOR SAKE OF HER CHILDREN

In order to care for her two children, who have no other means of support, Mrs. Rosie Ranson, a negro who was arrested on a vagrancy charge several days ago, was released from custody by Police Judge Smith yesterday morning. Mrs. Ranson was in have been given a sentence of sixty days Monday morning, but she mentioned her children, and her story was investigated by the police and found to be correct.

EYES AGE

The line across the old style far and near glass is an eyesore. It causes children and the unthinking to stare curiously at though they wondered what your infirmity was.

In the Kryptok (only at our six stores) there are no lines across the sight to spoil the look.

The age guessers also are led interestingly astray. Said one of these recently in referring to a wearer of Kryptok lenses: "I know she isn't over forty for she sees far and near in the same pair of glasses."

SHE WANTS HUSBAND AND GETS TWO OFFERS

A Girl Writes the Police for Cowboy, Mate Who Does Not Drink or Gamble.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 8.—The Fresno, Cal., girl, who wrote to Chief of Police Hall that she wanted to forsake the city for a life on the plains with some handsome cowboy who did not drink and gamble, is going to get results. Up to date the police chief has received letters from two men who think they fill the bill and one of them encloses a letter from a Justice of the Peace to prove it. The first letter received by the chief came from Van Horn, Texas, and is as follows:

"I notice the advertisement from the California girl wanting a cowpuncher and giving the necessary qualifications, and in this respect I answer in every particular.

"I own my own cattle and am also foreman of the 'B' outfit, and as to my integrity, honesty and industry I refer to any man, woman or child who gets mail at this postoffice. I am a native of the Golden State, having been born at Rockland, Cal. and am at present living in a ten-room adobe house with all modern conveniences and long for a mate to share it with me.

"I am six feet high, weigh 161 pounds, have light hair, blue eyes, and am very robust and if I am not a cowpuncher I am nothing, and a cow puncher was never manufactured.

"Can't send a photo, as I have always been too busy to have one taken.

"JOHN A. MORINE."

Endorsed by J. T. Turner, J. P., and I. O. Judson, superintendent Annie Maude mine.

This communication was accompanied by another letter as an enclosure. This was also addressed to Chief Hall under the same dating and reads:

"Herewith letter from John Morine, who is foreman at Joe Cannon's ranch and is just what the letter says he is. Do the right thing by him. Yours, etc.,

"J. H. TURNER."

The other letter says: "In regard to the young lady who wants to meet a cowboy, I have one of the best positions in New Mexico and if the lady's intentions are matrimonial I would be pleased to meet her, for I could give her a nice home. I am a young man and have moral habits. Yours truly,

"M. L. WRIGHT."

$2000 TO HIS WIFE IF SHE MARRIES AGAIN

Prospective Wedding Gift for the Widow Widewitz in Her Late Husband's Will.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The will of Joseph Widewitz, which was offered for probate yesterday, bequeathed to his wife $2000 in money as a wedding gift in case she marries again. The estate is valued at about $20,000. The will is written in Hebrew and starts out with the sentence:

"Whereas, The person does not know the time when he will die therefore the living takes it into consideration at the time his judgment is clear to direct what his heirs should do after he dies. And to say my last wish and to divide everything I possess."

Widewitz gives $2700 to a daughter named Sophie, and to his father, Jacob, $1200. Then the will reads:

"My house, 222 Henry street, so long as my father is living and my wife, Peshu, is living and are together, they shall have the power to rent, and the profits belonging jointly to both of them. After my father's death it belongs to my wife, Peshu.

"In that house I have an equity of $11,000. Out of this there shall be paid $3000 to my daughter when she gets married and $1000 to my son, David, when he gets married with the consent of my wife, his mother, Peshu Wildewitz. My wife, Peshu, when she marries, shall receive $2000. The balance belongs to my two sons, Saul and Solomon Wildewitz, both alive.

"All this is my last will, and I beg of all my children to fulfill what is said here, because I am in my full senses."

NEW YORK'S CHAMPION MOVER.

Every kind of activity, whether of business or pleasure, has its champion now days," said the renting agent. "I am glad to say we have in our list of tenants the champion mover. The man—has a family, which makes it record all the more remarkable—has moved fifty-five times in ten years. He is a southerner and, as a rule, the last metropolitan habit acquired by persons from the West and South is coming to New York in the morning table. People in other parts of the country do not move nearly so often as those living in this town.

"When newcomers settle in New York they remain in their first quarters for a long while, reckoned by the New Yorker's measurement of time. They are not used to breaking up housekeeping and it seems to them a tremendous undertaking. But by the time they have been here a couple of years and have noticed how blithely their neighbors pull up stakes every few months, they come to the conclusion that it can't be such a terrible job after all, and finally they, too, learn to shift easily from pillar to post."—From the New York Press.

Is to love children, and no home can be completely happy without them, yet the ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass usually is so full of suffering, danger and fear that she looks forward to the critical hour with apprehension and dread.

Mother's Friend, by its penetrating and soothing properties, allays nausea, nervousness, and all unpleasant feelings, and so prepares the system for the ordeal that she passes through the event safely and with but little suffering, as numbers have testified and said, "it is worth its weight in gold." $1.00 per bottle of druggists. ## PROFESSOR STABS A COLLEGE PRESIDENT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—The Rev. C. C. Miller, president of Centenary College, a Methodist institution at Jackson, La., was stabbed and it is believed fatally wounded by Professor W. E. Moncreiff, professor of physics in the college.

A difficulty arose about the mess hall of the students, of which Professor Moncreiff had charge. At a meeting of the faculty Dr. Miller and Professor Moncreiff became involved in a personal encounter, one using a chair, the other a knife.

Moncreiff was injured on the head and hands, but he stabbed Miller six times near the heart. Dr. Miller has been president of Centenary College for four years.
